Able Seaman John Eugene Byrne	HMCS York	MiD 1-Jun-44	MiD 26-Dec-44	For gallantry, skill, determination and undaunted devotion to duty during the landing of Allied Forces on the coast of Normandy. Awarded MiD posthumously. "Lieutenant-Commander Campbell, as Commanding Officer of HMCS Louisburg was responsible for the saving of many lives, due to his rapid summing up of the situation and his prompt action. His bravery, in the face of the enemy, cost him his own life"
Lieut-Commander William Franklin Campbell	Saskatoon Division RCNVR	MiD 6-Feb-43	MiD 1-Jan-44	HMCS Louisburg, a Flower Class Corvette, was sunk on 6 February, 1943 by Italian aircraft off Oran in the Mediterranean. There were 47 RCN and one RN survivor and 37 RCN and 5 RN passengers who lost their lives. Further accounts record that the explosion of the torpedo killed most of those standing watch in the engine room. The rest of the crew abandoned ship smoothly. Her own depth charges exploded killing and wounding men in the water.
Leading Steward James Ralph Conn	HMCS Montreal	MiD 16-Apr-45	MiD 1-Jan-46	Awarded MiD (posthumous). "Leading Steward Conn showed exceptional courage in remaining in the upper mess deck helping others to get up from the lower mess deck despite the fact that HMCS Esquimalt was obviously sinking fast. When last seen, he was still thus engaged and it is presumed that he went down with the ship."
Lieut-Commander Digby Rex Bell Cosh	RMC	DSC Apr-44 MiD Jun-43 - Apr-44	DSC 30-May-44 MiD 30-May-44	He commanded a squadron of Wildcats against the Tirpitz lying in a Norwegian fjord in April 1944. For this action, he was awarded DSC. Lieut-Commander Thomas Maitland Wake Golby	Esquimalt Division RCNVR	MiD 22-Feb-43	MiD 2-Jun-43	Awarded MiD (posthumous). "This Officer showed a high degree of competence while in command of His Majesty's corvettes. His courage and cheerfulness were outstanding, and in command of His Majesty's Canadian Corvette Weyburn, he gave his life in unswerving devotion to duty." HMCS Weyburn was sunk by a mine set by U-118 off the Strait of Gibraltar on 22 February 1943. Lieutenant-Commander Golby died in the water.
Stoker 2nd Class George Everett Goodwin	HMCS Chippawa	MiD 12-Dec-44	MiD 2-Mar-45	Albert Medal awarded posthumously on 2 Mar 1945. For supreme gallantry in rescuing occupants of the Knights of Columbus Hostel, St John's Newfoundland, on the occasion of its destruction on 12 Dec 1944 by fire. Notwithstanding the fact that he could have saved his own life and that he himself was very badly burned, this rating assisted in removing two girls from the building, thereby saving their lives. He was then overcome by flames and lost his life.
Able Seaman Lloyd Murchison Gordon	Charlottetown Division RCNVR	MiD 28-Aug-42		MiD awarded, "For good services in action with enemy submarines while serving in HMCS Oakville. Details on the action in which HMCS Oakville (Flower Class Corvette - K178) sank U-94 in the North Caribbean on 28 August 1942 can be found in Chapter 15 of "The Canadian Naval Chronicle
Lieutenant Malcolm Seafeld Grant	Montreal Division RCNVR	MiD Jul-44 - 21-Aug-44	MiD 14-Jun-45	Awarded MiD (posthumous). "This Officer, who lost his life at the time of the destruction of HMCS Alberni, consistently displayed coolness in action and unswerving devotion to duty. His organizational and training ability were largely responsible for the successful shooting down of a JU-88 in July, 1944. Lieutenant Grant's exemplary conduct was always a credit to the service as a whole and an inspiration to the men serving under him." The sinking of HMCS Alberni by U-480 on 21 August 1944 in the English Channel is described in Chapter 50 of "The Canadian Naval Chronicle 1939-1945".

Lieutenant Robert Hampton Gray	Calgary Division RCNVR	MiD 29-Aug-44	MiD 16-Jan-45	MiD awarded, "For undaunted courage, skill and determination in carrying out daring attacks air strikes on the German battleship Admiral Von Tirpitz in August 1944." On 29 August, 1944, Lt Gray lead his flight in a deadly low-level strafing run against three Narvik-class destroyers, all blazing at the Corsairs with a hail of cannon fire. Lt Gray's aircraft took a direct hit from a 40 mm shell and most of his rudder was shot off. He managed to fly back to the ship, and in a rare display of coolness patiently orbited the carrier for 45 minutes rather than disrupt the landing pattern by requesting an emergency landing.
		DSC 28-Jul-45	DSC 15-Sep-45	DSC awarded "For courage in action against the Japanese. For determination and address in air attacks on targets in Japan, on the 18th, 24th and 28th of July 1945". On July 28, 1945, Lt Gray directed a low-level strike against the naval base at Maisuru, north of Kyoto. Lt Gray made a direct hit on a Japanese destroyer, setting it afire and sending it to the bottom. His proficiency at this type of low-level attack on well defended naval destroyers was remarkable.
		VC 9-Aug-45	VC 24-Nov-45	VC awarded "For great bravery in leading an attack to within fifty feet of a Japanese destroyer in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire, thereby sinking the destroyer although he was hit and his aircraft on fire and finally himself killed. He was one of the gallant company of Naval airmen who, from December, 1944, fought and beat the Japanese from Palembang to Tokyo. The actual incident took place in the Onagawa Wan on the 9th of august, 1945. Gray was leader of the attack which he pressed home in the face of fire from shore batteries and at least eight warships. With his aircraft in flames, he nevertheless obtained at least one direct hit which sank its objective."
Lieutenant William Frederick Hale	HMCS Chippawa	MiD 14-Feb-45	MiD 24-Jul-45	MiD awarded For good services in a fire at Ostend, 14th February 1945." During the afternoon of 14 February 1945, several MTB flotillas including the 29th Canadian were tied up at Ostend Harbour for refueling and rearming. Highly volatile gasoline had been washed into the water and became ignited. Canadian sailors rushed to extinguish the flames. Lieutenant Hale of MTB 466 ordered his crew to evacuate, but he remained in an attempt to contain the fire. As he battled the fire, MTB 466 exploded. A wall of flames engulfed the MTBs and five of the eight boats of the 29th Flotilla were destroyed along with seven British boats. There were 26 Canadians and 35 British sailors killed in the fire.

Lieutenant Charles Allan Keefer	Montreal Division RCNVR	AM 26-Aug-41 St Olaf 26-Aug-41	AM 17-Feb-42 St Olaf 17-Nov-43	AM (Albert Medal in Bronze for Saving Life at Sea). "HMS Lulworth went to the rescue of survivors from a torpedoed Merchantman. The night was dark, with heavy seas running, so that the rescue work was slow and hazardous. As HMS Lulworth was about to abandon search, two men and a woman were found clinging to the wreckage. The men were saved, but as the woman, who was unconscious, was being hauled on board, she slipped from her life-jacket, disappeared below the surface, and came up astern. Lieutenant Keefer at once dived into the sea to try to save her. He reached her, but both were swept away by the heavy seas, and though search was made for an hour, neither was seen again." St Olav's medal (posthumous). "We, Haakan, King of Norway, make known that We on this day of March 17, 1943, have conferred upon Charles Allan Keefer, Lieutenant, R.C.N.V.R., our St. Olav's Medal (postmortum) in recognition of his personal contribution to Norway's cause during the war, where in he gave his own life in an attempt to save a Norwegian woman from drowning in the Atlantic Ocean."
